About Me

I am currently a student pursuing a Bachelor's Degree in Software Engineering. I have a strong interest in technology and coding, and I am actively building my portfolio using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. While I am still in the early stages of mastering these languages, I am excited to learn and grow through hands-on projects that showcase my progress. I am dedicated to achieving my goal of working at a major tech company, such as Google, Oracle, Amazon, or in Silicon Valley. I strive to push my limits and embrace every opportunity to succeed.

My Hobbies

- Reading: I enjoy various genres, especially fiction and science fiction.
- Traveling: I love discovering new places and cultures.
- Coding: I enjoy creating functional programs and solving problems.
- Drawing: I express my creativity through drawing and sketching.

My Travel Adventures

Exploring Lake Tana

Two years ago, I explored the serene waters of Lake Tana, the largest lake in Ethiopia. I witnessed the vibrant landscapes dotted with ancient monasteries and enjoyed the rich biodiversity, including unique bird species. The tranquil atmosphere and stunning sunsets made it an unforgettable experience that deepened my appreciation for Ethiopia's natural beauty.
